

Dear Salus Students,

The spread of the coronavirus has the country concerned. We understand that the virus may be causing anxiety or uncertainty for you in many areas of your lives, and we want you to know that CPPD is here to assist you with distress that may be caused by this situation. Though it may seem confusing what level of concern and precaution is appropriate, we also wanted to reach out to all students and the campus at large to inform you of measures we will be taking regardless, to protect against possible infection spread as cases crop up in our area.

During the Coronavirus outbreak, CPPD therapists will continue operation by providing online video sessions in lieu of live appointments.

These sessions will be offered for current CPPD clients, as well as for any new clients who wish to talk to a counselor for any reasons, including concern about the possible impact of the virus on you and/or others.

Please email or call CPPD if you wish to utilize video sessions, and your counselor will provide instructions.

If you have any questions or would like to discuss further, please reach out via phone or email!

Thank you,

CPPD
