Revving Up: Optometric Education Takes the Fast Lane in Indy.

Held in the racing capital of the world, the American Academy of Optometry annual meeting in Indianapolis was the perfect blend of high-speed excitement, collaboration and innovative optometric education.

The conference, held Nov. 6-9, 2024, drew a strong turnout from alumni, faculty, Doctor of Optometry students, residents, and friends of the Pennsylvania College of Optometry \(PCO\), Salus at Drexel University. The meeting featured a range of specialized educational sessions covering cutting-edge topics in ocular health, from managing systemic conditions such as diabetes and thyroid disease to exploring the complexities of pediatric retinal tumors and double vision. Amid these high-level discussions, attendees had the chance to network and reconnect with colleagues and friends.

Volunteering at Special Olympics Reaffirms Career Choices

Rebecca Zeiner '27AUD has worked with children who have disabilities, so when she first signed up to be a volunteer at the Special Olympics Pennsylvania in 2023, it brought her love for the work she did together with her pursuit of a career in audiology. When she decided to volunteer again this year as part of a contingent of Audiology and Optometry students from Salus at Drexel University, the added experience reaffirmed she's on the right career path.

Salus at Drexel University had 15 students and five faculty members from the Pennsylvania College of Optometry \(PCO\) who volunteered for the event, which was held Nov. 2, 2024, at Villanova University. The group screened 170 special athletes. In addition, there were 19 students and two faculty members from Osborne Audiology, Salus at Drexel University, that participated in the event.
