From Damage to Renewal: An Audiology Lab Revitalized

The day after Thanksgiving in 2024 truly was a Black Friday for Osborne Audiology at the then Salus at Drexel University's Elkins Park campus.

While the campus was closed for the holiday, a water pipe on the third floor of the West building burst. Unfortunately for the Osborne Audiology department, the Audiometric Principles Lab, a critical hands-on training space for Osborne Audiology students, is located on the second floor directly below the broken water pipe, and extensive damage was done to the lab before the break was discovered and the water was turned off.

Now, after more than a year of work, students recently returned to the newly renovated lab and have the opportunity to train and practice on state-of-the-art equipment in new booths. Read more.

Mother, Daughter Travel A Challenging Path Together at SLI

Traci Albuck has relapsing remitting multiple sclerosis (RRMS), characterized by unpredictable relapses where new symptoms appear or existing ones worsen, followed by periods of remission where symptoms may partially or fully resolve.

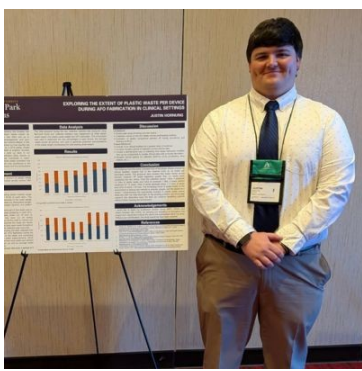

As a math teacher at Central High School in the Philadelphia School District, Albuck always needs to be on her toes. About a year ago, she noticed her cognitive skills seemed to be slowing down a bit, so on a visit to her neurologist, it was suggested she start speech therapy.

Ryan Albuck '26SLP had also noticed her mother was lacking in some skills — word finding, cognition — so as a student in the Speech-Language Pathology program at Drexel University, Elkins Park campus, Ryan suggested her mother check out the Speech-Language Institute \(SLI\), the University's on-site clinical facility.
