

For Immediate Release
October 8, 2018

Contact: Ashley Jefferson
Marketing Coordinator
215.780.1440
ajefferson@salus.edu

New Hope Resident Named Clinical Educator
at Speech-Language Institute of Salus University

Elkins Park, Pa. – The Speech Language Institute (SLI) of Salus University recently named Joanne Vesay, PhD, CCC-SLP of New Hope, Pa. as a clinical educator.

In her new role, Dr. Vesay will oversee speech-language pathology students in Salus University's College of Education and Rehabilitation as they provide therapy services for clients at SLI.

Dr. Vesay earned a Master of Science degree in Communication Disorders from Penn State University and a Doctor of Philosophy degree in Education from George Mason University in Virginia.

With experience in higher education, Dr. Vesay previously taught special education and early childhood courses at both Rider University and Kean University in New Jersey. Throughout her career as a speech-language pathologist, she has also worked with clients in early intervention, school, clinical, and home-health settings.

In addition to her new role at SLI, Dr. Vesay also operates a private practice - Monarch Pediatric Tx LLC - where she provides services as an independent contractor conducting initial and annual evaluations for children ranging in age from birth to three-years-old in Bucks County, Pa.

###

About Salus University

Salus University, founded as the Pennsylvania College of Optometry in 1919, today is a diversified, globally recognized professional academic center of learning that offers a wide range of degree programs in the professions of Optometry, Audiology, Physician

Assistant, Blindness and Low Vision Studies, Biomedicine, Occupational Therapy and Speech-Language Pathology. Salus operates six clinical facilities in Philadelphia and Montgomery counties that provide highly specialized vision, hearing and balance, and speech-language pathology services. The University has more than 1,200 students and more than 14,000 alumni worldwide. For more information, please visit www.salus.edu.